

BelgoBase Legal Notice

Document-ID: BB-LEGAL-EN-1.3

Version: 1.3

Date: 7 October 2026

1. Provider and contact

This website and BelgoBase are offered by NovaVenture Group BV, trading as BelgoBase, enterprise number BE 1006.303.437, Register of Legal Entities Antwerp, Mechelen division, registered office Krommestraat 48, 2830 Willebroek, Belgium. Legal, contractual and privacy questions: legal@belgobase.be. Support and security: security@belgobase.be. Telephone: +32 488 13 96 64.

2. Purpose and B2B nature

BelgoBase is a business information and software service for professional market selection, analysis, prospecting preparation and lawful business contact. The offering is not directed at consumer contracting. Website information, demonstrations and general pricing information are informative, except insofar as they constitute a specific offer or applicable law provides otherwise.

3. Documents, precedence and acceptance

The contractual documents follow this descending order of precedence: an individual agreement or deviation expressly accepted by both parties; a separately accepted price proposal for the commercial matters it regulates; an applicable and separately activated special annex for its subject; the applicable General Terms and Conditions; the applicable Terms of Use; and product, support and security instructions that do not constitute a material contractual change.

The Privacy Notice and Cookie and Storage Notice form part of the information package but not the contractual order of precedence. They inform about processing and do not constitute general consent, a payment undertaking or tacit contractual acceptance. Mandatory law, including mandatory information, erasure, data portability or switching rights, continues to prevail. A receipt evidences the registered acceptance; it does not independently determine document precedence.

4. Sources, currency and use

Insofar as BelgoBase displays data from official, public, commercial or other sources, source terms, intellectual property rights, usage restrictions and currency limitations continue to apply. A reference to KBO/CBE, NBB/BNB or another source holder does not make BelgoBase an authentic source and does not grant a direct source account, subscription or unrestricted reuse right. Important data and current legal status must be checked against the authentic source before an important decision.

Public availability does not mean every reuse is permitted. KBO/CBE personal data are not presented as freely usable direct-marketing material. NBB/BNB information may have different source versions, reporting periods and corrections. The customer must not use BelgoBase to circumvent source restrictions, systematic consultation limits, storage restrictions or redistribution restrictions.

5. Intellectual property, statutory exceptions and documents

Software, design, texts, documentation, proprietary selection structures and protected database elements remain the property of BelgoBase or its rights holders. BelgoBase claims no exclusive right to public facts or official source data where no such right exists. A licence grants no ownership, source account, database right or permission for resale, public dissemination, scraping, database reconstruction or use outside the applicable terms and source rights.

Nothing restricts mandatory statutory rights relating to necessary use, backup, observation, study, testing, interoperability, information, erasure or portability. The applicable legal documents must be available in an ordinarily readable and durably downloadable form when offered for acceptance.

6. External services and links

A link to an external website does not constitute control, approval or a guarantee of that site. External AI, hosting, payment or other service providers may have their own terms and privacy processing. For an actually activated AI function, the Privacy Notice describes which data may pass through BelgoBase to OpenAI; the product function does not expand rights to underlying source data.

7. Information, liability and law

BelgoBase does not provide legal, financial, credit, insurance or investment advice. Company information is source- and time-dependent; important decisions require verification against the authentic source and appropriate human assessment.

BelgoBase exercises reasonable professional care but does not guarantee that company information is complete, error-free, current, available everywhere or suitable for every particular decision. Nothing in this notice excludes liability for wilful misconduct, fraud, gross negligence, bodily injury, liability which mandatory law does not permit to be excluded, or a limitation that would invalidly undermine an essential statutory or contractual obligation. Belgian law applies to the contractual relationship insofar as permitted; competent courts are determined by applicable Belgian and European procedural law.

8. Changes

This notice is updated when the provider, website, documents, sources or relevant processing materially change. Every substantive change receives a traceable version and date.